I think that the license are a good thing to restrict except one thing and that is that you are aloud ~~only~~ only one person in your car and the reason that I disagree is if you have more then one sister or brother then they are not able to ride with you but I understand the reason that they started doing this law and it is an good idea for those that just started driving because they do not pay attention to the road as much as they do their friends but when you get 17 your license should not be restricted they should be regular licens but really it does not do any good to be restricted because the law does not do anything if there is more then one friend in the car with the driver and if they are out past ten but to me they should not be a time limit because that should be up to the parent instead of the state of Tennessee and if you work past ten then if you get caught going home then they should not be able to do anything for being out past ten. If you have a license ~~and~~ and your parents should be able to tell you what time you have to be in and should know where you are going. And if you ask me they should inforce this seatbelt law for all the teens and ~~and~~ adults and pull over the people that are not wearing a seatbelt instead of a $50.00 fine per person it should about $200.00 dollars a person then that would make them start wearing their seatbelts more.

But if the law would start making the police do something then all this would stop of people having 5 or 6 people in their car that makes the teens or anybody not pay action to the Todd. My answer is I disagree what is the use of it when the police do nothing about it when they brake the law.
